“ Betty was our neighbor when we were growing up. My sister and I spent many hours playing with Betty and her brother, Junior. We all had a lot of fun times together. Betty and Junior stayed at our house in the summer while their mother worked. Those were the days when we could play outside all day long and our mother didn't have to worry about our safety. The school bus went down the road where Betty lived but it didn't come down our road so we had a trail thru the woods to their house and we walked that trail every day to meet the school bus at their house. I'm so sorry that she didn't get to live a longer life, but I treasure the life we all had growing up together.
