“ I was saddened by the news of Marry Warrens 's passing. She and my mother worked together at Darsey Manufacturing in Tallapoosa, for many years, in the pants department, where she was a floor lady. The women in that department were more than co-workers, they were family, and I still remember most of them and they were hard working women. But they had their fun times too, getting up punch boards and other gift circles , for lack of a better word, where every participant contributed a small sum every week and every Friday a different co-worker would get the towels or panties or whatever they were chipping in for. Most of these women are gone now, Eartis Hulsey, Elaine Chandler, Lola Gladden, Evie Williams, Mary Warren, and others whose names escape me 50 years later, are surely having a grand reunion today. Annie Lou Smith and Sandra Calhoun are the only ones left of that circle of friends, I guess. I knew them and their families as well as my own name, through hearing my mama talk about life at Darsey's. Rest In Peace, Mary, Enjoy The Reunion! Love, DG
